"...a player for whom the word 'prodigious' was coined."

- Howard Reich, The Chicago Tribune

With Love, From Chicago is the newest album by renowned saxophonist and composer Adam Larson. This adventurous trio release marks the first of a recorded trilogy that Larson plans to release over the next 18 months. Each consecutive album will feature the incomparable saxophonist alongside a new chordless trio, surrendering the support of harmonic accompaniment for the freedom and melodic interplay associated with trio outings of this nature.

"When I began to map out the idea of creating a trilogy of trio recordings I looked to capture different musicians in cities that have played historical significance in my development and success as a musician," says Larson.

On With Love, From Chicago, Larson explores his relationship with the city where he gained the confidence to develop into the artist that he is today. Flanked by his long-time collaborators, ace Chicago-based instrumentalists Clark Sommers and Dana Hall, here Larson makes his most ambitious musical statement yet.

Adam Larson, saxophone
Clark Sommers, bass
Dana Hall, drums
